

Oct. 15th

After continuous weeks of going on field trips, we finally have a break and 6th graders will take what they have learned in the field trips and apply it to the classroom activities.

In Humanities class, students will be doing a mural project in groups and along with that students are expected to write an essay describing a moment that defined a turning point in their lives that challenged them to become more mature and responsible.

Lastly please check PowerSchool for updated students grades and progress, however, Social Studies grades will have minimal assignments attached.
